GOOD TEMPLARS

LODGE OF TEMPERANCE WORKERS IS IN VERY FLOURISHING CONDITION

Glendale lodge, No. 46, I. O. G. T., met Friday night in the Odd Fellows hall, corner of Third and Isabel streets. Being the last business meeting of the quarter, the election of new officers took place. The newly elected officers are: Chief templar, Barbara Askeland; vice-templar, Nettie Turner; secretary, Norah Rancier; financial secretary, Odin Askeland; treasurer, K. C. Siple; marshal, Raymond Fansett; guard, Jessie Hyde; sentinel, J. P. Fansett; organist, Mrs. Emma Reed; electorial superintendent, Oscar Wenberg. These officers will be installed May 7.

There was one candidate initiated at this meeting. The social committee reported that a pie social will be given on April 16th in the Odd Fellows hall. This will be open to the public in general. The ladies are to bring the pies, when said pies will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Other refreshments will be served. A real good time is promised to all who come. There will be an excellent program.

Arrangements were made to invite the two Pasadena lodges to visit Glendale on May 7th. An unusually interesting meeting is anticipated at that time.

Chairman of the Good Templars' orphans' home reported that many small garments had been made for the little tots and asked for more donations. The Good Temp'ar home is caring for nearly two hundred orphans at Vallejo, Cal. Anyone having children's garments up to fourteen years please phone 450R and Miss Barbara Askeland will call for the same.

J. P. Jensen, formerly of Oakland, but now of Pasadena, gave an instructive and helpful talk about prohibition. He is in the prohibition field of work, so is able to give real facts about our cause. Mrs. Fuller and Alice Watson favored all with a piano duet and the lodge paper, the Bugle Call, was read by Mrs. Anna Robbins.

In all, this was a very interesting meeting. The lodge is growing by leaps and bounds. On Saturday evening (tonight) the Glendale lodge and the Merrille lodge of Los Angeles will visit the Swedish lodge, Oscar the Second, of Los Angeles. All the Glendale Good Templars are to take the 8 o'clock car at Broadway and Glendale avenue.

MRS. CLENDENIN SURPRISED

About twenty-five members of the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Presbyterian church, carrying brimming baskets and good cheer, surprised Mrs. W. J. Clendenin of 246 Orange street Friday evening. A jolly evening was spent in this hospitable home by the young folks. Games were played and there was music and delicious refreshments for all. Among those present besides Mr. and Mrs. Clendenin were the Misses Laura Harkness, Helen Wallace, Marie Quinch, Jennie Horsch, Jean McNutt, Lynn McNutt, Cylde Brooks, Mina Robertshaw, Marion Carmichael, Margaret Burgess, Fern Porter, Vera Holloway and Margaret Wilson, and the Messrs. Joe Wilson, Hal McNutt, James McBryde, Cecil Crandall, Ed. Robertshaw, Clarence Klamm, Ben Nichols, Homer Bullard, Ralph Carmichael, George Ketterling, Maurice Carruthers and Clifford Riggs.

VERMONT SUGARING-OFF

Mrs. Mary J. Brooks of 103 North Louise street, with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Ainsworth, entertained with a real Vermont sugaring-off party Friday evening. There being no snow on which to cool the boiling maple syrup, the hostesses put their ingenuity to good use, substituting ice cream for snow, and a very satisfactory substitute is made. There was a contest to see who could eat the most, Mr. Wilmot Parcher leading by a slender margin.

Mrs. Brooks' pretty bungalow home was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns and the company were delighted with several vocal selections by Mrs. Wintersgill and a number of piano solos by Mrs. Brooks. Mr. Parcher also read an original poem entitled "The Flowers," which was well received.

Those present to enjoy the evening were Mrs. Winslow, Mr. Will Winslow, Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wintersgill, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Parcher, Master Carroll Parcher, Mrs. Caroline Ainsworth and the two hostesses.

The money the state is collecting for auto licenses should do much toward making good roads if used for that purpose.

LOW WAGES

EFFICIENCY IN ALL LINES OF WORK WILL SOLVE LOW WAGE PROBLEM

Editor News: Wages below the cost of living expenses offered to people for necessary labor is a direct insult to the individual, state and nation.

Respectfully,
A FRIEND.

There is nothing surprising about these low offers. The Evening News has the same experience every day. Individuals, firms and organizations come to The News office often and offer from 50 to 75 per cent of what a job is actually worth. Not many months ago a real estate man drove up in his auto to The News office and asked to purchase a "For Rent" card (size 11x14), and when told the price was ten cents, he left without the card, intimating he could get them for five cents each.

There is not a day passes but the Evening News is offered five dollars for an eight-dollar job, or ten dollars for a fifteen-dollar job. That is the way of the world and we need not be surprised at it.

The editor of The News knows of no better way to overcome these so-called insults than to do a class of work, whether it be printing or manual labor, that will be so much in demand that the services of that person will be sought at the highest going wages.

A man should strive not to place himself in a position that it is necessary for him to be in the poorly paid class. The Evening News aims to do a high grade of printing that is appreciated and wanted by the lovers of the printer's art. So with the work of "A Friend"—it should be so well done that men who are able and willing to pay good wages will want your services. Efficiency will solve the whole question.

ON THEIR HEADS IT IS

Robert Dunn, war correspondent, owes an explanation to John Reed, war correspondent, both Americans. In the end, the pair of them seem likely to owe an explanation to the people of the United States, because the people in question look with ill favor upon murder, and do not believe that a correspondent in the trenches, killing men for sport, is any nearer to being within his rights than had he chosen a dark alley for the operation.

Dunn tells that while he and Reed were in the German trenches they shot at the enemy; not at their enemy —for they were on honor to be neutral. Seized with the spirit of assassination apparently, Dunn records: "Be it on our heads, we did it. Both fired twice, turn and turn about." Asked by an officer if he "got anything," one is said to have replied, "Call it a couple of Turcos." Then stated with their game, "back to the officers' cave we sloshed, and to bottled beer." What! Nothing stronger than beer to drown the memory of that misdeed?

Dunn and Reed both have stood well. Either they will make clear that this account libels them, or they never will stand well again. If they were shooting Turcos, they were shooting their respective reputations as fit to be representatives of American journalism or any phase of the American spirit. The authenticity of the tale, even though it seems to come with Dunn's signature, will not be accepted yet, and upon the most absolute proof, would be accepted with humiliation and regret.—Long Beach Telegram.

THE VERDUGO HILLS PAINTING

STAINER'S 'CRUCIFIXION'

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHOIR GIVES ORATORIO BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

Perhaps the biggest thing a local church choir has attempted was Stainer's "Crucifixion" given by the choir of St. Mark's Episcopal church Friday evening, with Mr. Albert R. Chappell organist and director. The church was filled and extra chairs were brought in until all available space was taken.

Nothing but words of praise are heard for the members of the choir for their artistic rendition of this wonderfully beautiful oratorio.

The chorus work was splendid, every one of the twenty-seven members of the choir putting forth his or her best effort. The solo work was especially fine. Miss Clara Provolt in the alto solo, "He Was Despised of Men," giving a beautiful interpretation. The duet by Mr. C. E. Ringquest and Mr. Norman Badger was especially fine. Mr. Walter Butterly and Miss Mattiebelle Provolt also rendered solos most effectively.

Mr. Chappell added much to the enjoyment of the program by his sympathetic accompaniments. After the oratorio, the organist played the Dead March in Saul and the service closed with the appropriate hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace."

St. Mark's choir deserves praise for their effort along this line and congratulations as to the result.

TELLS VINEYARDISTS HOW TO FIGHT VINE-HOPPER

No other insect pest does so much damage to the vineyards of California as the grapevine-hopper. To aid the vineyardists to fight this tiny pest the University of California has just published a bulletin by H. J. Quayle, associate professor of entomology of the staff of the citrus experiment station at Riverside, in which he tells how to make and apply a spray, consisting of a pint of forty per cent black-leaf and a third of a gallon of liquid soap (or else two pounds of hard soap) to two hundred gallons of water. This has been found very effective in killing the nymphs or young. Material sufficient to spray one acre of vineyards costs about three dollars.

The first signs of injury from this pest are a mottling of the leaves with gray and green. Then the leaf turns silvery, then yellow and brown, then it drops from the vine. This loss of leaves prevents the grapes from maturing properly and prevents the canes from ripening normally for the next year's wood, which means that the vine may be more or less stunted in growth. It is only when the hoppers grow extremely numerous, however, that enough injury is done to warrant treatment. It is the warmer interior valleys in which the grapevine-hopper thrives most, and it seldom becomes injurious in the coast valleys nor in Southern California, except in the reclaimed desert region.

It is somewhat helpful to turn sheep into the vineyard in the fall to eat the leaves, thus reducing the number of insects the next year.

Early plowing is also of some slight aid of practiced generally in a district.

The adult grapevine-hoppers are almost impossible to kill by spraying, but the young quickly succumb.

This circular can be obtained free by writing to the college of agriculture at the university.

PRAYER IN FAITH

No answer comes to those who pray
And idly stand,
And wait for stones to roll away
At God's command.

He will not break the binding cords
Upon us laid,
If we depend on pleasing words
And do not aid.

When hands are idle, words are vain
To move the stone.
An aiding angel would disdain
To work alone.

But he who prayeth, and is strong
In faith and need,
And toileth earnestly; ere long
He will succeed.

SCHOOL ELECTION

L. E. BROCKMAN, DR. BRYANT AND I. H. OLIVER ELECTED WITHOUT OPPOSITION

There was little excitement over the school election Friday, none of the candidates having any opposition. Each of the names presented seemed so generally satisfactory that it was not deemed necessary to present opposing names.

In the Glendale city school district, the term of A. B. Heacock, who has served on the board faithfully and well, expired this spring and Mr. Heacock refused to be a candidate again. Members of the Parent-Teacher association looked about for a suitable man to fill the place and presented as their candidate Mr. L. E. Brockman of 452 East Second street. Mr. Brockman's name was presented to the people and was uniformly satisfactory with the result that he was elected without opposition. It is very generally thought that Mr. Brockman is the right man for the place. He is a wide-awake, successful business man, interested in Glendale and her schools. He was born in West Point, Neb., February 8, 1874, and has lived in California since 1885, most of the time being spent in dealing in farm lands. Mr. Brockman's work has been largely buying poor farm land and building it up and improving it. He has been a public benefactor in making two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before.

He came to Glendale in 1907 and has lived here ever since, with the exception of two years spent in the Imperial valley, where he has extensive interests. While in Calexico he served on the school board, so is not without previous experience. Mr. Brockman enters upon the duties of this office with a determination only to consider the best interests of the children of Glendale and he should have the co-operation of those who elected him.

The board is now made up of L. E. Brockman, J. E. Eckles and John Todd.

Two members of the high school board were elected. The terms of Dr. A. L. Bryant and Dwight Griswold expired this spring. Dr. Bryant was a candidate for re-election, but Mr. Griswold withdrew, Mr. Irving H. Oliver being named in his place. Dr. Bryant and Mr. Oliver were both elected without opposition.

Dr. Bryant has served on the board for several years to the entire satisfaction of the people. He has been secretary of the board since the resignation of Mr. E. D. Goode, who held the position for so long. Dr. Bryant has lived in Glendale for more than ten years and has a wide acquaintance here on account of his profession. He is known to be entirely conscientious in all matters pertaining to his personal business and to the affairs of the school. The people of the district could do no better than retain Dr. Bryant as secretary of the high school board.

Mr. Oliver, the new member, is a resident of Tropico, a wide-awake man who will give of his best in his service on the board. Mr. Oliver was born in Amherst, Mass., but spent most of his life in New Jersey before coming to this vicinity nine years ago. He served on the board of trustees of the city of Tropico for two years.

The high school board consists of C. O. Pulliam, president; Dan Campbell, C. W. Young, Dr. Bryant, secretary, and Mr. Oliver.

LITTLE LEONOR MARY'S PARTY

A delightful birthday party was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Earle Bond of 1563 Vine street on Friday, April 2nd, in honor of the second birthday of their little daughter, Leonor Mary. The dining and living rooms were in Easter suggestions. At each place were little chickens and Easter eggs and in the center of the table was a beautiful birthday cake with the words "Leonor, two years," upon it. Brick ice cream, candy, cakes and fruits were served and the afternoon was spent looking for Easter eggs and playing other games. Those present were James Francis Vivrett, Charles David Rudel, Richard Stine, Edith Kelty, Frances Judy, Cecelia Pinoche, Dorothy May Judy, John Pinoche, Dorothy Leslie, Leona Pinoche, John Fitzgerald, Harold Begg, Eva Leslie, Mrs. Theron Vivrett, Mrs. Charles Rudel, Mrs. Richard Stine, Mrs. Daniel Kelty, Mrs. F. Judy, Mrs. James Manning and Miss Gladys Manning.

When driving on the public highways, always have consideration for the other fellow. The rights of others should be and must be respected. How prone some drivers of autos and wagons are to keep in the middle of the road when meeting others.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptist gospel team conducted their first meeting at the Union Rescue Mission, Los Angeles, Friday evening with genuine Brown & Curry vim and enthusiasm. The large chorus occupied the platform and much of the time was given to the singing, the power of which was manifestly seen and appreciated. Pastor Troy delivered a short message and there were testimonies thick and fast, Mr. Roy Kent taking the lead. The crowd of gospel singers attracted considerable attention on the car by their impromptu song service and the passengers appeared to enjoy the music. Sunday evening promptly at 6 o'clock the team will favor Glendale with open air singing on the corner of Brand and Broadway. All Brown & Curry singers are invited to swing into line.

At both of the services tomorrow opportunity will be given for confession of Christ and all who are to receive the hand of fellowship are urged to be present at the morning service. A large baptismal service is planned for the evening. Beautiful Easter decorations and special music under the able direction of Mr Cunningham are announced for Easter Sunday. Pastor Troy will preach on, "Bible Resurrection and Immortality," Sunday morning. The evening theme will be, "Baptism and the Resurrection." Reports of both of these sermons will appear in the Glendale Evening News.

RATHER SMALL

A month-old Jersey calf was nibbling in the yard of a certain country friend of mine when the "summer boarder" arrived—a young college maiden from a Boston suburb.

She eyed it doubtfully. "Tell me," she said, turning impulsively to her hostess, "does it really pay to keep as small a cow as that?"—Boston Record.

HEALTH FOODS

That there is business to be gotten through legitimate and judicial advertising is evident from the good results the Glendale Sanitarium has been getting by advertising their health foods in the Evening News. A few months ago the sanitarium management established a retail store of health foods, and now the popularity of this concern has grown to such an extent that the weekly sales of merchandise is quite an item. The entrance to the store is at the side of the sanitarium building facing Isabel street.

TRADE-IN-GLENDALE SPIRIT

More and more as the weeks pass it becomes an assured fact that it is to the interest of every property owner in Glendale to trade in the city in which he has his interests. To such an extent has the trade-at-home practice become common that persons who reside in Los Angeles and own property in Glendale are seeing that it is to their financial interest to purchase so far as possible in Glendale all the merchandise they need. Residents in Los Angeles own vacant business buildings in Glendale. The trade-in-Glendale spirit on the part of the owners of these buildings will aid in getting them occupied.

WORTH OF OPINION

The worth of opinion depends upon whose opinion the value is being placed. An opinion from a person who is not a recognized authority does not have much weight—notwithstanding such an opinion might be found to be in harmony with the opinion of men of authority. It is customary to pay large sums of money for an opinion, but the persons receiving these large sums of money must be men of unquestionable integrity.

VALLEY VIEW

A. A. Ward has sold his place at 1716 Vine street and bought J. F. Stanford's new bungalow at 1550 West Seventh street, moving into the latter place Friday.

H. L. Webster, who recently traded his residence at 1517 Vine street for a big ranch near Merced, moved on Friday across the street into the Connolly home, 1516 Vine street.

Contractor Robertshaw has begun the erection of a seven-room house at 1556 Riverdale drive for H. D. Thaxter. Mrs. Frank Smedley's six-room house just across the street was recently completed. Mrs. Mollie McMurray's five-room bungalow at 1439 Lomita is nearing completion, as is Welmer's six-room house at 1519 Colorado. F. L. Shively has begun the erection of a five-room house on the lot he recently purchased of Farris Brown at 1561 West Fifth street, and A. W. Martin's five-room house at 455 Pacific is nearing completion, as is also T. J. Fambrough's at 1454 Ivy. A new house is projected at 1454 West Fifth. So it will be seen that Valley View is doing its share in the revival of property.

Mrs. H. W. Force of 1563 Penn street, who has been very ill for three weeks, is now able to sit up.

Will Renshaw and Tom Phillips are camping in Tejunga canyon this week.

TEACHERS MUST BE CITIZENS

A great surprise fell upon the school people of the state in the Attorney-general's opinion that unnaturalized foreigners cannot legally teach school in California or receive public money for so doing. The question came up from Kern county, where an unnaturalized teacher was at work in the county high school.

The fun of the opinion is that it is not based on any new law, but upon a statute of 1901, fourteen years old! It is very plain and very vigorous, but no one before ever thought of its applying to teachers.

Trustees are the chief sinners, for they do the employing and pay the salaries. It is also embarrassing to superintendents and boards of education, who have been innocently certificating and accepting both sheep and goats.

These alien teachers hold regular certificates and they are under contract for the year. It would disrupt the work of their schools to make sudden changes in the middle of the term. It seems as if the matter ought to be managed in some way to avoid violent action till the end of the year.

INSURING SCHOOL EMPLOYEES

Boards of trustees are inquiring what is being done by the schools of the state in the matter of insuring their teachers and other employees.

A law passed two years ago created the industrial accident board, which administers the state compensation insurance fund. School trustees are free to insure or not insure according to their own judgment. If they insure, they must do so with this state commission, which has its offices in the Underwood building at 525 Market street, San Francisco. Their rates are as follows:

For teachers, except as below, 16 cents per $100 of payroll.

For manual training teachers, 87 cents per $100 of payroll.

For domestic science and agricultural teachers, 44 cents per $100 of payroll.

For janitors, $1.31 per $100 of payroll.

No policy is written for less than $5. If you desire to insure, write to the above address for blanks and instructions.

Up to the first of March, 1915, 178 school districts of the state, about one out of twenty, had taken out policies. The largest is Los Angeles, which pays $2967.08 per year. The Imperial high school is $110.10. Napa is $149.89. Richmond is $174.15. Dinuba is $36.32. Susanville is $8.28. Monterey is $38.83. Wheatland is $137.31. San Leandro is $53. Ventura high school is $18.40. Most of them are less than $20, however.

The stage is no better than the masses of the people dictate that it shall be by the way they dispose of their patronage. If they want clean, wholesome theatricals let them patronize only the clean in drama. The clean theater cannot live on good will and approval alone. It must have the income ducats.

EASTER

BY SAMUEL PARKER

"HALLELUJAH, CHRIST AROSE"

EASTER HYMN

With eager feet the dewy pathway treading,
Forth to His tomb the weeping Mary goes;
While faint the light o'er hill and vale is spreading
And in the East the Orient purple glows.
Where shadows rest, her eager glances sending—
Timid her steps, yet love hath made her brave.
Spices she brought—their fragrant odors blending.
The gift of love—to place upon his grave.

What unknown hand her weakness hath befriended—
Asketh her heart so desolate and lone—
Grave of her Lord, where Roman guard attended,
Who, from the door, hath rolled away the stone.
Broken the seal—the light of noon appearing,
Angelic presence drives away all gloom,
And her glad soul receives the message cheering,
"Behold your Lord hath risen from the tomb."

Christians rejoice—be glad amid our sorrow,
Though loved ones fall and fill our hearts with pain.
For our beloved there comes a glorious Morrow—
Jesus arose, and they shall live again.
Our faith around our risen Lord entwining
Death and the Grave are easy conquered foes,
While in our hearts the glorious light is shining,
Light of that morn Christ from the grave arose.

JOYOUS EASTER SONG

(Tune "Maryland")

For all the blessings that He sends,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
For church and school and home and friends,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
For sinful chains asunder riven—
For joyous sense of sins forgiven—
And for the glorious hope of Heaven,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.

For glorious resurrection morn;
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
Eternal life, from death was born,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
He rose in triumph from the tomb,
Dispelling darkness, doubt and gloom
Now hope beyond our lives illume,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.

Since that glad morn when Christ arose,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
His followers have sweet repose,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.
Tho' loss of loved ones gives us pain,
We know they, too, shall rise again,
Forevermore with Him to reign,
Praise the Lord, O praise the Lord.

GLOOM AND GLADNESS

Oh, man of sorrows and of grief,
Possessing neither friend or home,
A prisoner, look for no relief
From cruel, heartless, Pagan Rome.
And this is Malefactor Day—
"No special time with these consume—
To Cross and Calvary—away!"
Thus Pilate said, and sealed his doom.

What further outrage will they do?
Some new indignity—afresh.
Press down the crown of thorns anew
And smite again the quivering flesh?
The darkened sun refused to see
The ample, rich oblation shed
In those long hours of agony
'Till cruelty pronounced him "dead."

No night of earth, than yester-night
Was ever more intensely dark.
Yet Mary saw a wondrous light
And early rose before the lark
To take an offering along
Of spice and flowers of rare perfume;
Her sadness quickly turned to song
When she beheld an empty tomb.

Tho' in the tomb that loved form lay,
That dark and chill and starless night,
Within its gloom he did not stay;
Behold, how luminous and bright
Is all the future. He arose
And, hallelujah, so shall we
As in that faith our souls repose,
Oh, grave, where is thy victory?

THE TWO WATCHERS

"Hither come, ye soldiers brave,
Take in charge this new made grave,
Watch it well with sleepless eyes,
Leave no margin for surprise.
His rash followers maintain
This dead man will rise again."

Sitting in the gloom alone—
His mute partner yonder stone,
Somber silence, darkness, gloom
Environ that borrowed tomb,
Tomb wherein the Savior lay,
While the night hours crept away.

Soldier, are ye not aware
Other watcher, too, is there?
There, although unseen of you,
There for eyes of faith to view.
Strong the one in bright array.
See! The stone is rolled away.

Dare you say, "His followers crept
In and stole Him while I slept?"
Death the only sure reward
If a soldier sleeps on guard.
Nay, he triumphed o'er his foes,
"Hallelujah, Christ arose!"

Raise aloud the glorious song;
Young and old its strains prolong—
He by rising chased the gloom
From the cold and cheerless tomb.
How with hope the future glows!
"Hallelujah, Christ arose!"

Weeping Marys of the years,
Cease your mourning, dry your tears;
Listen to the words of cheer:
"He is risen, He is not here."
In the fact your souls repose,
"Hallelujah, Christ arose!"

SOUTH SEA ISLANDS

According to a Japanese merchant who has recently returned from a tour of inspection to the South Sea islands under Japanese military occupation, European and American missionaries were met in almost every island he visited. They are doing a good work for the natives who are attached to them and look upon them as their fathers and mothers. The products are not the same in different islands. But generally speaking, copra and phosphorus, of which manure is made, are the two principal goods for export. A German firm is still at Yap, and another at Jaluit. Of course they are doing no business for lack of transportation. An English business man is also at Jaluit and an American at Palau, while some Japanese have been engaged in business in some islands from the time before the war. Tortoise shell is plentiful in Yap, and obtainable at a low price. Bluetails of large size, two or three feet long, the skins of which are valuable for making pouches of all kinds, are caught on the wooded hills. Sometimes baby crocodiles are crawling on shore is leisurely attitudes, and though a man may feel able to beat them to death they are very quick to retreat.

Bargains are made by the way of barter. Those natives who have been in daily contact with Germans understand the value of the mark, and are accustomed to the use of currency. But among the natives stone is used as a medium of exchange at Yap and Saipan islands. The money is made with limestone with a hole in the middle. The common size is about two inches square, while the largest measures about three feet by three. The latter kind of money is usually left on the roadside as the common property of the village, and is used for a common object as, for instance, buying a large tract of land from a neighboring tribe or giving over to an enemy as an indemnity when the villagers are beaten in tribal fighting. Thus a large limestone coin once owned by Yap island is placed on the sea shore of Saipan for public show as an ornamental trophy of victory.

The other kind of money is small precious stone of a chopped finger size, also with a hole in the middle. It seems the value is about equivalent to one mark, in ordinary cases, while some owned by the native chiefs are said to be worth 3000 marks each, though the value might not be of an intrinsic, but rather of an historical nature.

All the young men in Yap Island live together in a large social hall, according to a custom handed down from time immemorial. Probably this habit originated in the necessity of being ready at any moment to take up arms against an attack as a body when they had incessant fighting with other tribes. When a celebration is to be held in the islands all the villagers, men and women, assemble in the hall and they dance and sing. The songs are said to be very antique tunes and hard to understand even for the natives. The dance is very primitive and singular. Women, about thirty in number, rangethemselves in two columns and march round with queer gestures, with no music except the singing by a few leading women. Men sit on the floor with one leg stretched and dance singing in chorus. Their staple food is tallow or bread fruit with banana as secondary. The bread fruit is very like a flat cut loaf in shape, and even so in taste when it is toasted after skinning.—Japanese-American News.

HOW WOMAN'S MIND DIFFERS FROM MAN'S

A professor of English literature, who gave the same course in a college for women that he gave in a college for men who were affiliated with it, asked whether he assigned the same amount of outside reading to the women that he did to the men, said "No, I must be very careful about that. From years of experience I have discovered that I must assign twice as much to the men as to the women." Since that answer appeared to be a serious reflection upon the women, and the professor admitted that it was, but on further questioning the educator said that in reality the reflection is on the men. Said he: "I have discovered that the men, as a rule, do only about one-half of what is asked of them, while the women usually do all."

That professor had, in reality, hit upon the main differences between the masculine and the feminine mind. Women, driven by inherent instinct, for conscientious endeavor, felt obliged to read carefully every page of the long novels assigned to them. The men, believing that after all college is only a battle of wits, contented themselves with dipping in here and there, reading a synopsis with real interest and trusting to their ingenuity on examination day. Necessarily, the same questions were given to both groups of students, but the answers differed widely, yet the average markings in one group were not far from those in the other.

It was simply a case of the same end being reached by different roads. Women get credit for possessing a kind of sixth sense, called intuition. It points the right path instantly, and, in general, with accuracy. But students of the human mind have shown that this power is nothing more wonderful than man's judgment. The only difference is that it acts more quickly. A legion of specific examples of a like character will flash through a bright woman's mind while a man is struggling ponderously to formulate on a general tendency.

Women have also been charged with a lack of vision. It has been said that while they are very sensitive to immediate circumstances, their thinking lacks range, but in reply to this it has been maintained that right is nowhere needed more today than in the small things of life, and that since what is right today will tend to be right tomorrow, the question really answers itself.

MADE-IN-AMERICA GOODS

Since the commencement of the European war the campaign for "made in America" goods has received an immense impetus through the inability of importers to secure the regular supplies of foreign-made goods. Americans are discovering that home products are just as good in every respect as the foreign article, and dealers are displaying the "made in America" sign with greater confidence.

The effort to encourage native art is also advancing. Alex Pantages, the vaudeville magnate, announced more than two years ago that American vaudeville acts would always be given the preference over foreign on his circuit of theaters. Others have followed his example, and now Pantages is again setting the pace by announcements in his program when his vaudeville acts are "made in America."

This tendency is illustrated next week at Pantages theater in Los Angeles by the appearance of The Five Musical Nosses, German in name, European in the finished perfection of their musical art, and in costuming. The Nosses carefully announce in the program that their instruments, their scenery and their costumes are, like themselves, all made in America.

ACTIVITY AT SAN DIEGO FAIR

SAN DIEGO, April 3.—To give more time to preparations and also to allow Governor Johnson opportunity to arrange his duties that he may make the trip, the visit of the California legislature to the San Diego exposition has been postponed from today to April 10. While Governor Johnson has not finally promised that he will come with the party, he has said that he will do so if state business does not keep him at Sacramento. Governor Johnson intended to visit the exposition here during the recess of the legislature, but administration business kept him from doing so. Now that the coming visit is arranged, the governor will make an unusual effort to be with the party.

The California legislature recently visited the San Francisco exposition. After this trip the legislators from the south end of the state insisted that a similar visit be made to the San Diego exposition. This met with such a hearty response that success is assured the plan. The legislators will have a special and will be here April 10 and 11. They will leave Sacramento April 9.

A comprehensive program for their entertainment is being worked out, which will include a special lecture on the California building, in which the state is so much interested. A military review and escort for Governor Johnson is another part of the program. Other entertainment will be an auto ride through the city, the climax to be reached with a big dinner at the exposition grounds. The date of April 10 for the legislative party fits in well with the exposition's program, for on that night there will be much gaiety at the exposition, when the first Panama carnival and masque ball will be held.

This carnival will be patterned after the famous Mardi Gras carnival of New Orleans and will be one of the most gorgeous affairs of its kind ever held in the West. Every concession at the exposition will contribute a feature and the costumes of the masqueraders will depict the dress of many nationalities and well-known characters. While the complete plan for this affair has not been devised, enough is known at this time to warrant the prediction that the exposition will see a big night.

TEACHERS' RETIREMENT SALARIES

The state board of education, sitting as a retirement salary board, at its last meeting placed the names of twenty-nine additional retired teachers upon the retirement salary fund record. This makes 290 all told who are drawing annuities at the end of the first year's operation of the law. These require roughly $100,000 per year, which is met by the $1 per month contributions of the working teachers of the state.

The board has, therefore, accumulated all of its share of the collateral inheritance tax, amounting to $150,000, as a nest egg for the future.

These facts give a roseate glow to the financial soundness of the scheme. Yet we must remember that the annuitants are now engaged in paying up their back dues, so that the total expenditure is greatly reduced thereby. Instead of $100,000, it will cost $150,000 in another year. It is only at the end of a period of years that we can arrive at trustworthy conclusions.

During the past year nine annuitants have been removed from the list, five by death and four by return to teaching.
